Our Bikes
The CRR range is a group of high-performance race bikes. Proprietary frame design coupled with advanced manufacturing techniques produce a frame that is rigid, efficient and light while still being comfortable for longer rides. Geometry has been refined from years of road racing experience to provide optimal fit and performance in every size. If you are looking for only the best, then this is your series. With features like BB30, tapered head tube and oversized tubing there are few bikes that will get you to the front of the pack quicker than the CRR
